

Breakouts 1 & 3 / 10:30AM & 1:30PM

[C134/CHOIR ROOM] Titus 2 Paradigm for Female Discipleship — Britney Hamm [Campus Missionary]

God has a vision for female discipleship in the church, and he lays it out clearly in Titus 2. In this breakout, we'll unpack why women should disciple women, what they should teach one another, and how Titus's instructions are still relevant in our 21st-century gender-confused world.

[CO34/PARK] Skills? We Don't Need No Stinking Skills — Aaron Werner [Disaster Relief Collegiate Coordinator]

What are some ways college students can be used to help others when disaster strikes? Learn how to bring help, hope, and healing to those affected by disasters. Learn about our paid internship that will help you grow spiritually while you develop practical skills for the future.

[S162] Short-Term Missions for Long-Term Impact — James Judd [ONELINK Director of Sending Partnerships]

Make short-term missions a launchpad for long term impact. Whether you are a student interested in missions or a campus minister who wants to make impacting the nations part of your ministry DNA, this breakout is for you. This breakout will challenge you to raise the bar, take ownership of the Great Commission globally, and engage strategically with unreached people groups.

[S163] The Intersection of Faith and Science — Ethan Pham [MBCollegiate Apprentice]

Every day, new scientific discoveries reshape how we understand the world. Some use science to dismiss God, while others use God to reject science. Both extremes miss the point. So what is science, how does it relate to God, and how can it help us better see the wonder of His creation?

[S164] Is It Possible We Are Taught to Build a Basement? — Greg Xander [Campus Missionary]

The Bible has no redactions! ... From Genesis to Revelation on anybody!! And how can we make sure that we are not becoming ourselves—and not creating communities that discourage people from being as honest as the Bible we read every week? Vulnerability, integrity, authenticity.

[N117] Your Life Is Not Your Own — SJ Gottschamer [Campus Missionary]

A biblical look at what God says about your purpose and how to walk faithfully in this season you're in right now.

[N116] What's My Mission? — Kimbre Thrower [myMission Consultant, Missouri WMU]

This session invites participants to recognize Christ's call to live onMission, learn from others living onMission around the world, envision what that looks like in their own lives, and commit to responding with their whole lives—relationships, careers, and service—to God's redemptive work. in the world.

[NO20] For the Sake of the Gospel — Carson Whitemire [Sports Crusaders Director of Recruiting]

Modern Christianity often focuses on responsibilities and experiences, but mission trips, service projects, and internships all exist for one purpose—the Gospel. Drawing from 1 Corinthians 9:23, Carson Whitemire, Director of Recruiting with Sports Crusaders, will share how to cultivate a willing heart and use what God has uniquely given you to reach others for Christ.

Breakouts 2 & 4 / 11:30AM & 2:30pm

[SANCTUARY] Ask a Church Planter — Colby Corsaut [Kings Church Lead Elder / Church Planter]

Q & A session where students get to ask Colby questions on the book of Nehemiah, the Bible and church planting.

[S165] Come, Follow, Go: Jesus' Vision for Discipleship — Caleb Fain [MBCollegiate Apprentice]

Jesus' final command was to "go and make disciples," but what did He actually mean by that? In this breakout, we'll explore Jesus' own words throughout the Gospels to discover His definition of discipleship and His method for discipleship. Our aim is to see discipleship not as a program, but as a way of life centered on following Christ and helping others do the same.

[CO34/PARK] How to Develop Student Leaders — Travis Hamm [Campus Missionary]

Jesus tells us that "The harvest is plentiful, but the workers are few," (Matthew 9:37). If we truly want to saturate college campuses with the good news of Jesus, we need to develop more student leaders. In this interactive breakout we'll be working through Biblically based practices to equip and mobilize students for ministry leadership. Whether you are a college student leader, Campus Missionary, or a Church-based minister, this breakout is for you.

[N116] Planning Impactful Events — Kerissa Breisch [Campus Missionary]

Events are more than dates on a calendar; they're opportunities to build community and have a spiritual impact! In this breakout, we'll explore the Biblical evidence for why we host events, how intentional planning helps activities align with your ministry mission, and planning logistics. You'll leave with a practical, repeatable framework for planning well-executed events!

[N117] What Does It ACTUALLY Mean to Be TETHERED to Jesus? — Joey Moralez [MBCollegiate Apprentice]

Just as our devices must stay tethered to a reliable connection, we are called to remain tethered to Jesus, abiding in Him through every season of life. Even when our connection feels weak or broken, God never disconnects from us—He remains faithful tethered to His people at all times.

[C134/CHOIR ROOM] The Isolation Trap: Why College Feels Lonelier Than It Should — David Stone [Campus Missionary]

Surrounded by people but still feel alone? This session tackles the quiet isolation many college students face. We'll spot the warning signs, confront the lies, and give you practical steps to break the cycle. You'll leave with one bold action to start finding your people—whether you're struggling or know someone who is.

[S163] A Voice, a Dream, or a Blueprint? Is God Calling Me to Missions — Juliana White [IMB NextGen Missions Recruiter]

Come learn how you can use your gifts, talents, and education to serve on the mission field for the purpose of engaging in the missionary task.

[S164] Make New Disciples: A Simple, Bible-Based Way Anyone Can Do - Stephen Daniel [Managing Director, Harvest Teams]

Want to lead someone to Christ but still feel intimidated? In this 1-hour breakout, you'll learn a simple, attainable approach for the "regular Christian" where the Bible is the teacher. You facilitate a few repeatable questions and let God's Word do the heavy lifting. It's simple, reproducible, and reflects the kind of disciple-making that's fueling church planting movements around the world.

[S161] Using Your Story to Get to His Story - Dr. Rob Pochek [MBC Team Leader of Prayer & Evangelism]

Can you share your faith journey in as little as 15 seconds? What about 3 minutes? Learn how to do both, while incorporating key Scripture verses, so that your story becomes a gospel presentation.
